

2008

With anglers from all over New Zealand and Australia competing the competition was intense, catches were great with a new kingfish record being set by angler John Nightingale

Phil Rutten took out the Overall Snapper trophy with a 10.60kg fish and Lewis Mc Connell winged his way to Fiji, Flying courtesy of Air Pacific, taken out the major prize for the Average Catch

Anglers are encouraged to mix and mingle as this is a great time to make new friendships as well as compare fishing notes. This event requires teams to have a good strategy as the tournament is structured to benefit all aspects of sport fishing from individual and team achievements. To get the best results you must simply weigh your best Snapper and Kingfish each day, this will ensure you are scoring points, after all this is a tournament and you need to be in to win. This event honours sportsmanship and fair play. If you have ever wondered what that could be like, then get your entry form and fill it out now. Don't miss out!
